Admission and Registration Policy

Policy ID:	GVC-ADM-001	Version:	1.0
Effective Date:	1 January 2026	Review Date:	1 January 2027
Document Status:	Active	Hospital:	Green Valley Community Hospital

Purpose

This policy explains how patients register and are admitted at Green Valley Community Hospital. It describes what information is collected, what identification is needed, and how the admission desk confirms and finalizes each admission.

Scope

This policy applies to all patients being registered for inpatient or outpatient services, including new patients, returning patients, and patients arriving through the emergency entrance. It also applies to family members who assist a patient with registration.

Policy Statement

Every patient should complete registration before or shortly after receiving care, depending on whether the visit is a planned admission or an emergency case. Registration allows the hospital to open an administrative file, assign a patient reference number, and coordinate later steps such as billing, insurance verification, and discharge.

Patients should provide basic identification during registration. A contact person should also be listed so the hospital can reach a family member if needed.

New Patient Registration

A patient visiting Green Valley Community Hospital for the first time is considered a new patient. New patients should visit the admission desk, located near the main entrance, to begin registration.

Basic Information Collected

- Full name, date of birth, and gender.
- Current address and at least one phone number.
- Name and phone number of an emergency contact person.
- Reason for the visit, in general terms.
- Preferred method of contact for updates.

Once this information is recorded, the admission desk issues a patient reference number. This number is used across the hospital for billing, records, and future visits.

Returning Patients

Patients who have visited Green Valley Community Hospital before are considered returning patients. Returning patients should confirm whether their information has changed since their last visit, including their address, phone number, or emergency contact person.

If no information has changed, the returning patient can confirm this verbally at the admission desk, and registration is usually completed more quickly than for a new patient.

Required Identification

Patients should bring a valid form of identification to the admission desk. Acceptable identification includes a government-issued identity card, a driving license, or a passport. Family members registering on behalf of a patient should also carry their own identification.

Situation	Identification Needed
Adult patient registering in person	One valid photo identification document
Family member registering on behalf of a patient	Patient identification, if available, plus the family member's own identification
Returning patient with an existing record	Identification to confirm identity; full re-registration is not required

Emergency Registration

Emergency cases may complete some administrative steps after initial care rather than before it. When a patient arrives through the emergency entrance, hospital staff first focus on providing timely care, and a family member or the patient can complete full registration once the situation is stable.

Admission staff will still request basic identification and contact details as soon as practical, so that an administrative record can be created and later steps, such as billing and insurance coordination, can proceed smoothly.

Admission Confirmation and Room Assignment

Once registration information has been verified, admission staff confirm the admission and, for inpatient stays, coordinate room assignment with the relevant hospital department. Patients receive an admission confirmation slip that includes their patient reference number and, where applicable, their assigned room.

Admission staff verify registration information before finalizing admission. This step helps avoid mistakes in later administrative processes such as billing and record-keeping.

Updating Patient Information and Registration Timing

Patients or their listed contact person can update registration information, such as a phone number or address, at any time by visiting the admission desk or contacting the Administrative Services Desk.

For planned, non-emergency admissions, patients are encouraged to complete registration at least 30 minutes before their scheduled admission time. This allows the admission desk enough time to verify information and prepare an admission confirmation before the patient proceeds to their assigned area.

Missing Documents and Registration Mistakes

If a patient does not have identification available at the time of registration, admission staff may accept alternative identifying information and ask the patient to provide formal identification within a short period afterward, usually before discharge.

If a registration mistake is discovered, such as a misspelled name or an incorrect contact number, the patient or a family member should inform the admission desk as soon as possible so that the record can be corrected.

Family Member Responsibilities

Family members assisting with registration are expected to provide accurate information to the best of their knowledge and to remain available by phone in case the hospital needs to confirm details during the patient's stay.

- Bring identification for themselves and, if available, for the patient.
- Provide an accurate emergency contact number.
- Inform the admission desk promptly of any changes to contact details.
- Assist with collecting any missing documents when requested.

Responsibilities

The Admissions Department is responsible for collecting accurate registration information, issuing patient reference numbers, and confirming admissions. Patients and family members are responsible for providing accurate information and identification and for promptly reporting any changes.

Exceptions

Emergency cases may bypass the standard registration sequence so that care is not delayed, as described in the Emergency Registration section. In rare cases where a patient is unable to provide any identification and no family member is present, admission staff will create a temporary administrative record and request identification once it becomes available.

Frequently Asked Questions

Q: What documents are required during admission?

A: Patients should bring one valid form of identification, such as a government-issued identity card, driving license, or passport, along with the name and phone number of an emergency contact person.

Q: When should a patient complete the registration process?

A: For planned admissions, patients should complete registration at least 30 minutes before their scheduled admission time. Emergency cases may complete registration after initial care is provided.

Q: What happens if a registration document is missing?

A: Admission staff may accept alternative identifying information and ask the patient to provide formal identification within a short period afterward, usually before discharge.

Q: Can returning patients update their information?

A: Yes. Returning patients should confirm whether their information has changed and can update their address, phone number, or emergency contact at the admission desk at any time.

Q: What happens during emergency registration?

A: Care is provided first, and full registration is completed once the situation is stable, usually with help from a family member or the patient once they are able.

Q: Who verifies registration information before admission is finalized?

A: Admission staff verify registration information before finalizing admission and confirming room assignment.
